EDGE LINE

THE BEST OF CONTEMPORARY
DESIGN AND QUALITY

THE FUTURE IS EDGE.

Step into a future where beauty and innovation seamlessly intertwine. Explore the realm of Edge and set new benchmarks for style and quality.

The Edgeline represents the best of contemporary design and impeccable craftsmanship. Crafted from stainless steel with a powder-coated finish, the Edgeline is presented in a captivating matte black with a subtle shimmer or a satin matte white. Each product within this line is meticulously developed to uphold the highest quality standards, ensuring long-term performance. A flawless fusion of style and functionality.

Distinguished by its defining edges, the Edgeline achieves a perfect balance between form and function. Its clean lines and sophisticated color palette effortlessly integrate into any setting. Beyond its visual appeal, the Edgeline provides practical and user-friendly solutions for everyday needs, contributing to a clean and secure environment that enhances user well-being.

Immerse yourself in the seamless blend of function and style embodied by the Edgeline. Its timeless elegance and innovative design have the power to transform spaces into havens of sophistication.

Stainless steel advantages

Stainless steel, also referred to as inox, is a metallic alloy primarily composed of iron, chromium, nickel, as well as other elements. Its exceptional resistance to corrosion is attributed to the high chromium content, which creates a protective oxide layer. This characteristic renders stainless steel highly durable and well-suited for use in settings where corrosion prevention is necessary.

Stainless steel is widely used in demanding sectors, such as food processing, the chemical industry, and construction, due to its natural resistance to germs, strength, load-bearing capacity, and heat resistance. Moreover, it is often viewed as an environmentally friendly option as it is 100% recyclable.

Various processes can be used to refine stainless steel. The Edgeline, it is worth noting, has been powder-coated to improve its appearance and increase its resistance to fingerprints and dirt, which makes them easier to clean and maintain.

Ceramic white

Gentle on both the eyes and to the touch, this powder coat presents itself in a delicate shade of white, boasting a velvety matte finish. Infusing the stainless steel with a soft texture, the coating radiates a pleasant and elegant quality. The subtle tactile experience and the understated white tone harmoniously contribute to an inviting atmosphere, making this surface a stylish and captivating element in any room.

Cosmic black

Resembling the night sky, this impenetrable dark grey powder coat is adorned with subtly shimmering particles that infuse the surface with a mysterious depth, all without being intrusive. The mildly textured surface captures light in a unique manner, crafting a timeless design that enhances the appeal of any room.
